

Snow's arrived!

It looks like the snow is coming early again this season. We've already had the first good dump of snow (take a look at the webcams at the Val Thorens village website) and the forecast is for lots more in the next couple of weeks (I'm writing this on 19th November). Here's to a great season!!